ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to thank my thesis committee members for their insightful comments and encouraging guidance: Ajarn Karen Block and Dr. Larin Adams for giving me a lot of their time as I worked on the initial draft; and Dr. Tom Tehan, as my advisor, for reading and rereading my drafts patiently and giving me valuable comments.

I also would like to express my gratitude to Payap Linguistics Department faculty for all their teaching and training throughout the study, providing all the necessary assistance for this work to be accomplished.

Special thanks to my friends: Linda, for your willingness to help me in many ways; Emily, for proofreading the free translation of the texts used in this thesis; James for helping me with the Myanmar Naga map; and Amber, for proofreading the thesis. I am very much indebted to you. I do not have enough words to thank you for your understanding and love.

My special thanks also to the Makuri Naga team: Rev. Kwangbae Son and Gyeonghee, through your dedication I have gained a better understanding of my language; and the members of the team who patiently worked with me in checking the texts. May you have many blessings from God our Father.

I also would like to express my deepest appreciation to my family and the members of my home church for their love and constant prayer, which always encourage me to strive for greater service.

Most of all I am thankful to God for good health and guidance throughout this study, for without Him I could not have done this!
