ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

There are many people that encouraged me to complete this thesis. They are Dr. Pearl, Aj. Oyporn and the English department at Payap University, my father, and the AE 102 students (section 11 of 3/2008).

I am genuinely thankful to my thesis supervisor, Dr. Pearl Wattanakul, for her excellent advice, suggestions, and support during my long journey. Thank you for your wise suggestions to improve on my thesis. Also, thank you for recommending me in the first place to study TESOL at Payap University.

I would like to thank Aj. Oyporn and the English department at Payap University who gave me the great opportunity to teach AE 102 in order to conduct my research needed for this thesis. Thank you all teachers in the English department for all your excellent suggestion, and never failing encouragement.

Thank you, Papa. Thank you for your love and support. Thank you for your encouragement, and being there whenever I was down and needed help. Thank you for being my lovely father. From the bottom of my heart, I would like to say that I love you and I am so proud that I am your daughter.

Also, thank you my AE 102 (3/2008) students for your hard work and participation. Thank you for you attention and thank you for your improvement. I really enjoyed teaching you.
