ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Thomas Tehan for his guidance and encouragement. He is not only my advisor, but also my mentor. With the wisdom from above, he made my thesis writing time a pleasant experience.

I would like to thank my committee members: Dr Kimmo Kosonen and Ajarn Art Cooper. Thank you for sharing your precious time and knowledge with me.

My special thanks go to Dr. Fraser Bennett who first introduced me to sociolinguistics and inspired my interest in it; to Bryan and Silvia Allen, Brian and Liz Billard for sharing their knowledge of the Bai language and love towards the Bai people with me; to Eric Johnson who helped me with my preliminary questionnaire design and encouraged me all the way through; to Juliana Kelsall and Ajarn Noel Mann for their valuable input in my questionnaire revision; to Ramzi Nahhas and Wyn Owen for the statistics reviewing (I am responsible for any errors in analysis); to Jianping, Ruijuan, Haichun and Luoping who accompanied and helped me with my survey trips; to the 'Friday Group' which made the study at Payap enjoyable; to my dear housemates Linda, Minh, Naomi and Phuong who made my stay in Thailand memorable. And to many other professors and friends whose names I cannot list here due to the limit of the space, but there is no limit of my gratitude to you.

I want to thank my grandmother, my parents, my brothers and sisters-in-law for your understanding. Without your love, encouragement and support, I would not have made it to study in Thailand and accomplished the program.

At last also the first, I would give my thankfulness to the source of my strength wisdom and joy. HE guides me step to step to where I am today.
